

WEEKEND JD PROGRAM

Imagine a JD program that fits into your busy schedule. A program that combines on-campus classes with online course components, and features nationally renowned professors in a world-class city. Now, imagine that program meets every other weekend. Loyola's Weekend JD program has been designed with you in mind. Turn your law school ambitions into reality.

First-year curriculum

Semester 1: Fall (11 credits)

Legal Writing and Research I (2 credits)
Civil Procedure (4 credits)
Torts (4 credits)
Professional Identity Formation (1 credit)

Semester 2: Spring (9 credits)

Legal Writing and Research II (2 credits)
Contracts (4 credits)
Criminal Law (3 credits)

First-year schedule

Saturday

All-day classes from 9:30 am-6:00 pm
(includes breaks and student programming).

On some weekends, additional programming will be held on Saturday evenings.

Sunday

Half-day classes from 8:30 am-1:30 pm
(class until 3:45 pm the first half of fall semester)

13,000+

Loyola's strong alumni network of JD graduates

1/3

Up to one-third of instruction in each course will be taught through distance learning.

LUC.edu/WeekendJD

*Loyola's Weekend JD Program can be completed in four years by taking classes during academic semesters only, or you may shorten your degree completion by choosing to take courses during the summer terms following semesters two, four, six and/or take additional credit hours during semesters three through seven. A number of additional credit hours may also be earned by completing courses which are offered in a fully online format.

Exceptional faculty

In Loyola's Weekend JD program, you will be taught by accomplished scholars and nationally recognized leaders in their fields.

SACHA COUPET

Associate Dean of Mission Innovation & Morris I. Leibman Professor of Law

TORTS

Expertise: family law, child welfare, children's rights, LGBTQ youth and diversity & inclusion in law practice

HENRY ROSE

Curt and Linda Rodin Professor of Law and Social Justice

PROPERTY

Expertise: law and poverty, property and remedies

DEAN STRANG

Distinguished Professor in Residence

CRIMINAL LAW

Expertise: criminal law, criminal procedure, evidence, legal history, law & humanities

NEIL WILLIAMS

Nathaniel R. Jones Professor of Law

CONTRACTS

Expertise: contract law, sales, secured transactions

Building on 100+ years of success

Graduates of the School of Law's part-time JD program have enjoyed successful legal careers in private practice, government, the judiciary, and as leaders in the community and the bar. Some of the best trial lawyers in the country attended Loyola's part-time program.

"I was attracted to Loyola's Weekend JD program because of the school's excellent reputation, the quality of the education, and the dedication of the faculty and staff."

—Shemario Winfrey
Houston, TX

Superior on-campus experience

Loyola's learning environment is friendly, cooperative, and supportive. Just steps from Chicago's Magnificent Mile and close to public transportation, Loyola's Philip H. Corboy Law Center is located in the heart of the city near government agencies, law firms, and some of Chicago's best dining, shopping, and cultural and recreational opportunities.

Innovative hybrid program

Complementing the substantive learning of the rigorous classroom experience, the Weekend JD program will provide additional instruction for core courses through distance learning. Additionally, you will have the option to select from a variety of fully online courses after completing the required curriculum.

Weekend JD program highlights

- Broad-based curriculum that has become a model of best practices in legal education
- Online course components offered through Sakai, a highly interactive, collaborative online learning environment
- Experiential learning opportunities in externships, clinics, practica, field studies, and comprehensive simulations
- Individual career and professional development counseling to help assess career goals
- Special presentations and workshops geared toward weekend students
- Flexible course options for early degree completion
- Reduced lodging rates available both on campus and at nearby hotels
- State-of-the-art facilities just steps from Chicago's Magnificent Mile
- Dedicated Weekend JD staff available to assist you

2022-2023 WEEKEND
JD PROGRAM TUITION

$39,170

APPLICATION INFORMATION

- No application fee
- LSAT required (LSAC.org)

October 1: Application submission begins

March 1: Recommended application deadline

May 1: Final application deadline

FINANCIAL AID

In addition to federal loans, students may qualify for Loyola institutional aid.

Visit: LUC.edu/law/FA.

APPLY NOW

LUC.edu/law/admission/apply

Loyola University Chicago
School of Law

25 East Pearson Street
Chicago, IL 60611

law-admissions@luc.edu
312.915.7170

SCHOOL of LAW